

Hello Student,

We have some good news to share with you. We know since transitioning to online courses, many of you have shared concerns regarding coming to campus to complete proctored assessments and tests. We understand these concerns and have been working to find the best resolution for our students and faculty. In following new guidelines and in order to reduce the need for you to visit an Assessment Center on campus, the College has partnered with SmarterServices, LLC to offer students the ability to test at home using the automated proctoring service, SmarterProctoring™.

This service provides an option for students to remain isolated while still being able to complete required course assessments. Please check directly with your professors to determine if automated proctoring will be used for your course(s).

Additional information about this service can be found on our website.
